

We are writing to you as the new committee for the year 2023-24 of ISPRP. The Indian Society of Prosthodontics, Restorative and Periodontics, as you are aware, is an active 17-year-old organization with its own journal. The society offers an award each year to the college with the best interdisciplinary activity. In addition, this year, the society would like to recognize toppers in BDS from your esteemed institution with the most consolidated marks in the three subjects. In addition, the society would also like to acknowledge the best outgoing PG student in each of the three specialties. This will be a strong addition to the student's resume and to the College's laurels, in the era of NAAC and NIRF rankings. The new DCI regulations place high emphasis on Interdisciplinary activity with each student expected to earn certain credit points through Interdisciplinary dentistry cases. These prizes can motivate students to work harder and excel academically, which can have a positive impact on the educational institution's reputation. The winning student needs to be a member of the society OR the institution can be a corporate member of the society.

Becoming a corporate member of an interdisciplinary dentistry society can offer a range of benefits for the individual or an educational institution including enhancing the student learning experience, improving academic performance, and providing opportunities for research and networking. Firstly, by joining the society, the institution can provide three of its students/faculty with access to its mid-year and annual conference, at member rates, which can be invaluable in enhancing their learning experience. Attending conferences and networking events can provide students with an opportunity to learn from experts in the field, stay up to date on the latest research and techniques, and connect with potential employers.

In addition to this, the society offers monthly webinars that can be attended for free by two representatives of the institution.

Becoming a member, the institution can also offer its students and faculty the opportunity to publish their original research in the society's journal, benefiting students to build their academic profile and gain recognition for their research.

The society conducts a popular scientific annual essay competition that your students can participate in.

The fee for corporate membership is INR ten thousand only. Please click on this link to join immediately as a corporate member. The society, from inception has focused on nurturing Indian talent to resolve oral health issues of the Indian population in the best interdisciplinary manner. Therefore, we trust, you'll circulate this widely amongst your students to participate and benefit from the immense knowledge that the programs bring to the Interdisciplinary platform.